Sixty thousand tourists landed in Los Angeles during the last 30 days. How many of them heard about Tropico?

TROPICO WINS • AGAIN

In a Fast and Sensational Game

In a game replete with tense situations and sensational plays, Tropico defeated Bullocks at the local grounds last Sunday by the score of 9 to 3. Numerous times during the game the Tropico lads squeezed out of some pretty tight places by fast and heady playing.

One of the most spectacular plays seen on the local diamond was one of the "Ty Cobb" variety made by Charlie Daniels, Tropico's center fielder, in the third inning. A high fly was driven out to center, and Daniels, making a hundred yards at top speed, corralled the leather, stumbled, fell and from the ground threw out a man at second.

The crowd was again brought to its feet in the fourth by a lightning double play by Tropico that got them out of a tight box. With none out and bases full, the visitors rapped a hard drive that looked like a winner until Bidwell grabbed it off and nailed the runner from third at the plate. The double was completed by Bradford to Cisney, retiring the base runner. This left still two on bases, but "Hasty's Habit" was in working order and the next man struck out.

Bullocks contributed a number of wild throws during the game, allowing Gabaig to score on two occasions, Rich once and Bradford once. Gabaig is rapidly becoming the "Old Reliable" of the team. Vaulet replaced Rich in the sixth inning and showed up well after his lay-off.

There is nothing but praise for Captain Sisney's changes in the line-up. The boys all work better and faster and are improving steadily. Sisney will be laid up for several days on account of a sprained ankle, but expects to get in the game with Glendale next Sunday at Verdugo Park. A number of the regulars have arranged to make the trip in Will Hastings' auto truck early in the day and will picnic at the park.

Tropico is now tied for first place in the San Fernando Valley League and no doubt will make a strong race for the pennant.

The score:

Bullocks—
Runs	1	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	—3
Hits	0	0	0	3	0	0	0	1	1	—5
Tropico—
Runs	2	0	2	0	0	2	3	0	*	—9
Hits	3	0	0	0	0	1	3	0	*	—7

Two-base hits—Bidwell, Sisney, Gabaig. Struck out—By Bidwell 14, by Hartman 9. Bases on balls—Off Bidwell 2, off Hartman 3. Double plays—Tropico 2. Umpires—Spear and Craig.

Claude Sisney, the popular captain of the Tropico baseball team, was severely injured at the local diamond last Sunday, when a bench collapsed, pinning his feet to the ground. He sustained a badly sprained ankle and minor bruises that will lay him up for several days.

RECOGNIZED THE VALUE OF A LOCAL PAPER.

In a recent article published by the Boston Daily Globe, one of the big national dailies, it says:

Each year every local newspaper gives from $500 to $5,000 in free advertising for the benefit of the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The local editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other ten men, and in fairness, man to man ought to be supported, not because you like him personally, but if he is giving you and your community a good, live local paper he is giving the community one of its best assets.

The paper may not necessarily be crowded with great thoughts, but financially it is of more benefit than probably any other institution or individual in your community. Understand us now, we do not mean morally or intellectually, but financially, and on all moral questions you will find the majority of the papers on the right side. The editors of local papers are doing more work for their communities for less pay than any other class of people, and as a cold-blooded business proposition every community should see that its local paper is well supported.

HIGH GINKS.

The Elks held a high ginks reception at the lodge room Tuesday evening. About 300 were present, a number of Elks coming from Los Angeles in special cars. It is useless to say that all present had a good time. The Elks are noted for giving their members and visitors a good time on all occasions and Tuesday night was no exception. Refreshments were served and various amusements furnished. Those present reluctantly departed at a late hour.

The latest report anent the street railway extension is to the effect that the required bonus has been secured and that the street car company will attempt to turn off the main line at Cypress, instead of San Fernando, as heretofore understood as being the plan.

The Famous San Fernando Valley

A Land of Delights and Pleasures. Beautiful to Behold and Pleasant to Dwell in. Its Greatest Development Lies In the Coming Future Fruitful Years.

First Favored by the Grand Architect of the Universe and then Made Fit For the Uses of Man by the Children of Men. Tropico the Home Place of this Beautful Land Ideal Climatic and Scenic Conditions and the Best of Men and Women are here to be Had. Come and Live With Us.

You Will Find Here a Land

Picturesque and Productive

Earnest L. Quist.

THE SAN FERNANDO VALLEY, famed for its prolific soil, beautiful surroundings, salubrious climate, is hidden from Los Angeles only by the turrets of the Santa Monica Sierras.

From the summits of these craggy hills spreads out the vista of this great valley, showing fields and orchards, gardens and groves, farms and cities, dotting the bosom of its rich soil. More than 140,000 acres of rich land lie within this fertile and beautiful valley.

From the time of the Spanish regime up to within the last few years this beautiful valley was a grazing ground for thousands of head of cattle and sheep. The beautiful Los Angeles river meandering down through the center, fed by many rivulets of pure cold water, made an ideal place for the cattle lords of olden days.

Near the old mission of San Fernando, founded by the old Franciscan monks, the little city of San Fernando has grown and prospered, it now has a population of about 2,000. In some respects San Fernando is a typical California city; in others it is not. San Fernan has a typical California progressive boosting spirit, but it is old enough to have miles of streets, with beautiful borders of large spreading shade trees. Is is old enough to have become fixed on the map and steady in its growth. It is old enough to have proven that its growth is founded on substantial resources, and hence it may be expected to grow and prosper.

Many Scenes Like This Can Be Found in the Famous San Fernando Valley. Rich Soil, Bright Sunshine and Good Water Give Results.

In short, San Fernando has $80,000 invested in public school buildings and equipments. Many miles of shady streets, clean and profitable orange groves, lemon groves that are unsurpassed as to productivity, flavor or value of crop; four fruit packing houses, and attractive old mission; very rich surrounding territory; electricity for light and power; attractive mountain trips; the largest olive grove in the world; a Seventh Day Adventist Academy; four churches; two national banks; two newspapers, and stores of every nature, a telephone system with universal long distance connections, domestic gas, pure artesian water, ample fire protection, cheap fuel oil, little fog, little frost, no mud and no saloons.

Very properly San Fernando is known as "the Gem of the San Fernando Valley."

The other cities in the valley are Burbank, which has been rechristened "the Panorama City," with a population of one thousand; Lankershim, often known as "the Gateway to the San Fernando Valley," because of its position near the Cahuenga Pass, where the Pacific Electric cars emerge out of the mountain pass on their way from Los Angeles to San Fernando; Van Nuys, which is often spoken of as "the town that was started right," lying very closely in the center of the valley, and Owensmouth, "the Town and Speaks for Itself," located at the extreme western end of the valley; and at the extreme east end of the valley is the triple cities of Tropico, Glendale and Eagle Rock.

Throughout this beautiful valley can be grown anything that nature can produce anywhere with a similar climate. The soil is rich sandy loam and is particularly adapted to irrigation and such culture as can be grown best to advantage under artificial watering.

Water is plentiful in most of the valley, particularly in the eastern and northern part. Wells varying from a few feet to a hundred feet in depth furnish abundant flows of the finest water that can be found anywhere, and in large quantities.

Citrus and deciduous fruits are grown in every part of the valley as is also alfalfa, berries and every known kind of garden vegetables. Thousands of dollars' worth of produce are delivered each year to the markets of Los Angeles and as much more is packed and shipped to all the great markets of the world.

Almost every household in the valley has a little flock of chickens, and quite a number have them by the thousands, while a goodly percentage of ranches have fine flocks of pigeons, ducks, geese and turkeys. The domestic hare plays an important roll in the average farmyard selection.

Large numbers of horses or cattle are the exception rather than the rule, but those one does see are nearly always of the best breeds and highest quality.

Paved boulevards traverse the valley in different directions, making autoing through this wonderful valley convenient and pleasant, and also furnishing the producer with an easy outlet for his products, for here it is that the auto truck finds its greatest utility. A machine running out from Los Angeles in the morning loaded with merchandise for a store at the further end of the valley, returns before noon loaded with produce for the consumers of the city, and is again ready to make another trip of exchange in the afternoon.

In addition to the natural supply of water which is furnished by nature in underlying stratas, this valley will, without doubt, be the first great user of Owens River water from the world-renowned aqueduct, and thus as soon as this gigantic enterprise is completed every part of this valley will be put under the most intensive cultivation and utility. Thus we see one of the finest and most productive valleys in all of California lying within an hour's reach of Los Angeles, the best market in the Golden State, and amply furnished with water both for domestic and irrigation purposes.

This beautiful valley offers many opportunities for those seeking a home in a delightful land, past the experimental and pioneering stages. It is here that scientific and intensive cultivation is being carried forward in the most efficient manner. The farmer seeking a home in this valley must not only be possessed of a few thousand dollars, but he must also be schooled to practical scientific farming. The price of land and the price of water prohibit careless or slipshod methods, but the man who adopts modern business methods and manages his farm as carefully as a successful business man does his mercantile establishment, is meeting with much success in this valley.

The beauty spot of all this famous valley is Tropico—the City Beautiful. Tropico nestling in the eastern end of the valley, just outside of the city limits of Los Angeles and connected with that city by steam roads and electric cars, offers one of the finest places for pleasant, comfortable homes to be found in any land. Tropico is preeminently a city of homes, a city where all those attributes which go to make ideal home conditions obtain. It has the best of schools, churches, and moral conditions. In all of Tropico there is not one thing to detract from the community as a high class suburban locality. It is not a place of great wealth, but the home place of the men and women who "do things"; the home of those who are strong and virile and who are stamping their influence on the times of the day. There is no shoddy aristocracy in Tropico. It is not a question of how much you have, or how costly clothing you have on your back, but how clean a life do you live and what can you do to make the world a better place to live in. To those seeking a home in such a community and who will come and join in the work of building here an ideal home city a most hearty and cordial invitation is extended, and they will find a welcome, wholesome and sincere.

IMPORTANT MEETING BY

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club held an interesting and important meeting Tuesday. A two-minute talk was given by the chairman of each committee, who outlined their year's work. A musical program was enjoyed, consisting of following numbers:

Then followed the president's address to the club.

This address is of such merit that it will be given in the next issue of the Sentinel in full.

After the president's address a committee of three was appointed to select a corner lot or lots suitable for a club home.

After adjournment a reception to new members was held, at which time refreshments were served.

RECORDER'S COURT.

Judge Melrose tried a case last Friday, transferred from San Fernando, wherein L. D. Strader was suing E. L. Brenot for $135 back wages.

Louis P. Boardman, an attorney of San Francisco, appeared for Brenot, and Burch & Pettit for Strader. The evidence showed that Strader has been working for Brenot for about four years, and that during this time, according to the contention of Strader, Brenot had become indebted to him in the sum of $135. This was denied by Brenot. Judge Melrose took the case under advisement.

Mr. Norton Marshall of West Acacia avenue and Mr. Kissler of Covina are enjoying a unique vacation. They started from Covina Sunday in an automobile which had been fully equipped with camping necessities, and they are anticipating "one great time." Their first camp will be in Imperial Valley, where Mr. Marshall is interested in farming land; then they will visit San Diego and Mexico before returning home, some time in November.

The Thursday Afternoon Club will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wesley H. Bullis. Mrs. Bullis will be assited in entertaining by Mrs. F. B. Storer, Mrs. A. J. Becker, Mrs. Wayland Chapman and Mrs. Ernest M. Davids. Miss Bessie Stoddart of Los Angeles will give a talk on "The School as a Social Center."

In County Cork, Begorra

Special to the Sentinal by E. R.

Glengarriff, Co. Cork, Ireland.

We arrived at Glengarriff, a small mountain town on the edge of Bantrey Bay, about four in the afternoon, after a beautiful ride on the water from Bantry. The Hotel Eccles is right on the water's edge and as soon as our belongings were settled in our rooms we started for a walk in the village, with one main and only street with a few shops, where the peasants brought their products to exchange for other necessities. Tomorrow being the day for a fair, many of the neighbors from the near-by country have already arrived with their pigs, sheep, horses, cows, chickens, etc. The street being rather crowded, it was with difficulty that we found our way into a little store to buy some milk chocolate. As this is well wrapped and sealed with foil, tissue paper and cardboard, we did not mind taking it from amongst such a scene of untidiness. This market district reminded us so much of similar places in our Mexican cities at home. The women and girls with their faces peering out from under the roofs of the large black shawls, the baskets on their arms for their shopping and often barefooted resembled our American squaw quite a bit. The lazy, careless attitude of the men recalled those of our Southern lands, but their faces and appearance were very different. These men, talking over their horses, were not wearing the bright pink or lavender shirts and broad-brimmed sombrero, but instead looked just like the average cartoon on the Irish farmer with his soft slouch hat, side whiskers, baggy clothes and puffing away at his pipe.

As we walked on, we came to an industrial school for girls, where they are taught lace making, along with other things. We were shown some of their work, and it was very lovely and well done. The price is according to the time it takes the girl to make the piece of lace and the quality of the work. Her name is on the tag with the price and she receives the purchase money minus a small per cent to the school for teaching her. Lace is not so cheap as we sometimes hear said at home, and is worth far more than its weight in gold.

Following the road further, we were soon surrounded by the peaceful mountain stillness, and when we did pass a peasant along the way we were greeted with a cheery good evening or a remark about the weather. Our views were ever changing as the road ran first along the water's edge and then in a ravine where the hillsides were covered with large trees, vines climbing to the tops and the ground carpeted with ferns and moss-grown rocks.

Looking down the river as we crossed over a stone bridge, we saw the ruins of another bridge now overgrown with plants, said to have been built for Cromwell's army and as soon as his men had passed over he had it destroyed, so that it would be of no use to the enemy.

The scenes were often quite brilliant in the bright sunshine, for the autumn colors are now much in evidence. It was low tide and the browns and reds on the hillside blended well with the scraggly seaweed on the rocks sticking out of the green water. As we sauntered back we picked many a wild berry and these were so abundant by the roadside.

But the night! One could never impart any idea of it with a word picture. It was ideally perfect as we stepped out on the hotel porch after dinner and walked down to the water's edge. We sat there a long time, hardly speaking. The full golden moon was rising right in front and instead of sending a glittering patch toward us its round reflection was seen just out under it in the smooth harbor. The dark outline of the land, rough with rocks or bristling with trees, ran in and out on both sides, almost meeting at times, and then retreating, taking back an arm of the shining sea with it. Little boats, lazy and quiet, were afloat, their black forms and slender masts mirrored in the bright water. The stillness and peace of the mountains were over all, only accentuated by the soft lapping of the water or now and then the screech of a night bird.

HOME RULE IN TAXATION.

At the general election next year the voters of California will vote on the following proposed amendment to the state constitution:

"Any county, city and county, city or town, may exempt from taxation for local purposes in whole or in part any one or more of the following classes of property: Improvements in, on or over land; shipping; household furniture; live stock; merchandise; machinery; tools; farming implements; vehicles; other personal property except franchises. Any ordinance or resolution of any county, city and county, city or town, exempting property from taxation, as in this section provided, shall be subject to a referendum vote as by law provided for ordinances or resolutions. Taxes levied upon property not exempt from taxation shall be uniform."

CHIROPRACTIC

(Ki-ro-prac-tik)

The Road to Health Through the Adjustment of the Spine

Whatever your trouble may be, you know that nerves supply life and motion to every muscle and organ of the body. The nerves come down from the Brain through the Spinal Column, and pass through the small openings called foramina, between the vertebrae. If any of the vertebrae through which the nerves pass are displaced, the nerve force or stimulus at these points is lessened, hence the organ to which the nerve goes fails to functionate properly and disease is the result. For instance, should there be a pressure upon the stomach nerves, lessening the stimulus to the organ, renders it weakened and unable to functionate properly. By removing the pressure by Chiropractic adjusting permits nature to restore the organ to normal health. The same rule will apply to any organ of the body.

The Remedy is Simple and Certain. Remove the Cause and Nature Will do the Rest

CHIROPRACTIC, as practised by Roy A. Sipes, D. C., will remove the nerve pressure by adjusting the vertebrae to the natural position. This easy scientific method removes the cause for your sickness or disability and allows nature to do the rest. This is a fact proved in hundreds of cases of Heart Diseases, Rheumatism, Indigestion, Infantile Paralysis, Kidney Troubles and other serious diseases. If you would enjoy the greatest of all blessings, Good Health, investigate Chiropractic.

In order to prove the efficiency of my work, anyone presenting this advertisement at my offices before Oct. 22 will be given one Chiropractic adjusting free.

Weapons drawn in the legislature of Tennessee? Those fellows must think they are at Albany.

Kansas City has established a night school of gardening. We trust it is totally unlike the night school of poultry raising.

Now that the tariff bill is settled some people will expect it to pay the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker; set the table, ring the dinner bell and say grace.

Torrance, the industrial city, has a newspaper. Number 1 of Volume 1 was issued October 11. E. M. McClure is editor and proprietor. It is a neat six column, eight page paper printed on book. Here's hopin', Bro. McClure.

C. H. Turner of the Redondo Reflex is a wonder. He not only got out a most creditable Booster Edition of the Reflex on October 3rd, but has waged a most relentless warfare on the saloon element of that beach city at the same time.

JUDGE WORKS says that he is not satisfied with the proposed Hetch-Hetchy scheme and he wants to investigate further before he lends his influence to San Francisco. He is reported as saying that he is afraid that the harm the proposed plan will do will be greater than the good it will do, and that it is not vitally necessary to the welfare of San Francisco.

HAVE YOU SIGNED IT?

SIGNED what? Why, the petition to have Los Angeles eat up Tropico. The petition that is being circulated praying Los Angeles to take poor little Tropico in out of the cold. Poor little Tropico! It hasn't anyone competent to manage its affairs so some of its wet nurses are trying to get Los Angeles to take over and manage its affairs—Los Angeles with its corrupt professional politicians, its burden of bonds, its stupendous indebtedness.

Yes, there is a petition being circulated asking that an election be called to vote on the question of annexation to the big city. This petition has been seen. That fact is fairly well established. Its existence can be proven by the testimony of a few reputable men, who assert that they have seen such a petition, but they differ as to what this petition contains. Some say that it prays Los Angeles to furnish Tropico a nursing bottle and to act as wet nurse for the incompetents who are foolishly trying to build a model city in this favored locality; who have built streets, made public improvements, put Tropico on the map, and withal kept the bonded indebtedness of the city down to $25,000, and has taxable property of practically one million dollars. A city of three thousand population, with a million dollars worth of assessable property and only an indebtedness of $25,000 is too much for the Los Angeles class of financiers. Such people are, in the eyes of the men who are handling the affairs of that city, legitimate prey and offers rich picking.

Report says that two little boys, named W. O. Hood and W. A. Thayer—good little boys, but peeved because some of their naughty neighbors kicked over some of their playthings and the Board of Trustees would not give those neighbors a spanking—are carrying the petition around and asking people to sign it. At last accounts they had found ten or twelve sympathetic men and women who had kindly put their name down on the little piece of paper and the two little boys were reported as being as gleeful as they were when they got their first pair of boots with red tops. You know some little boys are easily pleased and if they think they are "spiteing" someone they are happy. No one takes these little boys seriously and if it makes them happy to carry around a piece of paper asking that Tropico, that has one of the most glorious futures of any town in the country, sink its identity, lose its individuality, surrender its liberty of action, cease its progress, hamper its development, saddle itself with a big indebtedness and gain what? just to please two little pettish boys and aid the L. A. gang to pull themselves out of the hole, let them do it. Its not going to do any harm and if it amuses them let the little fellows be amused.

For grown up men to attempt to do anything like this at this time would be traitorous and foolishness, but for little boys suffering from a summer case of peevishness, it's actually funny. And the funniest part of it is, that some of the politicians in Los Angeles are furnishing the paper and buying "all day suckers" for the little boys to use.

THE CURRENCY BILL

AS A rule the bankers of the country are opposing the administration currency bill. This was to be expected and a certain amount of consideration should be given to the opposition, but the bankers as a whole are no more qualified to make currency laws for the country as a whole than are the grocerymen; in fact, not as much so as are the well posted men of any mercantile line. The reason for this is easily discerned. A man actively engaged in mercantile business has a much broader grasp as to the general needs of a currency system than a banker, for the reason that it is inevitable that all look at a proposition from their respective viewpoint. The banker looks at the currency question from his viewpoint and while he may honestly desire the good of the country, his training and experience are such that it is almost unreasonable to expect him to have clear views on the subject. Yet technically he is prepared to give expert suggestions and the bankers of the country should unquestionably be consulted in any currency measure.

We have in the United States about twenty thousand bankers, and as a rule these are hard working, intelligent men and it is safe to say that the average of honesty among them is higher than among any other class of people. Those who condemn bankers as a whole because of an occasional defaulter do so inadvisedly. And it is not right to question the honesty of the bankers' contention as to the proposed currency bill. From their viewpoint they see many things in the bill that look bad, but because they are honest in their objection is no reason why the function of forming currency laws to govern all the people should be turned over to them.

Fundamentally the issuance and distribution of money is a governmental perquisite, and the proper distribution of money is the most important function of the government.

As the people of the earth began to emerge out of barbarism and to form society, the great masses were uneducated and unthinking. They were drawers of burdens and hewers of wood and from this unthinking and uneducated mass there gradually evolved the bankers, or money handlers, and as time passed they assumed to themselves privileges and functions, good for themselves but bad for the drawer of burdens and hewers of wood.

Times have changed, and other changes are being rapidly worked out. The drawers of burdens and hewers of wood are being educated, they are learning to think, they too are studying the problem of mankind and they are rebelling against the continuation of ancient privileges appropriated when the world was young. People no longer believe in the divine right of kings; the right of physical force to rule has been superceded by the right of justice, in name at least; the power of the despot, physically, spiritually, and politically is yielding to the right of man and there is no reason why arrogated privilege of money should not and shall not also yield. Money has an equal right with all other interests but it should have no greater right.

A currency system to be just should not only give the bankers their rights, but should also give the farmer, the groceryman, the drygoods man and the manufacturer their rights, and such a system must be given the country and no one interest can frame such a system.

Let the country be just to the bankers, but let it also be just to the farmer, the poultryman, the stockman, the merchant and the manufacturer.

THE WAY TO BE HAPPY.

The following from C. L. Jackson, in Farm and Ranch is worth reading, then reading again, then laid away to be read when things look sombre, and the clouds of adversity and disappointment hang low. Mr. Jackson says:

"So much can be said that would perhaps bring sunshine and good cheer into the lives of others whose environment and opportunities have not been equal to ours or who are bowed down by adversity or affliction, that the writer hardly knows where to begin or how to say that which would bring the greatest joy into the lives of others. Yet he has an earnest desire to be of real help to others. A desire that he may do or say something that some one cast down by life's burdens may look up and take heart again, for he has had his share of afflictions, disappointments and apparent failures. If he should say something that would cause some soul shrouded in gloom to cast aside the burden, real or imaginary, and face life's battles with renewed vigor and courage, he would feel abundantly paid for the time spent in writing this letter.

"We must remember that 'life is real, life is earnest' and 'into each life some rain must fall.' We all have our sunshine and storm and sometimes the storm clouds are so thick and furious it seems that our little bark will go down to rise no more. No matter how exalted our station or how humble our cesses, or how small our achievements, each life position, no matter how great may seem our suc-has its burdens to bear. Each one has a mission to fulfill, a destiny to obtain, something to do, a place in the great structure of humanity, and though our niche may seem small and insignificant yet it is important. A great building composed of brick, huge stones and pillars of granite could not gether. Some of us may be nothing but common mortar yet we are as important as the corner-stone. stand without the mortar that holds the parts to-Men may not admire us and sing our praises and may pass us by unnoticed, yet we may feel sure that something depends on us and it is ours to do all we can.

"Although our burdens and afflictions may seem greater than we can bear, perhaps in the future when we see more clearly we can look back and realize that they were blessings in disguise. A refining fire that purged us from all dross and revealed the pure gold that was within us, which might have never been revealed except by severe trials.

"Mary did not recognize her Lord but mistook him for the gardener because she was blinded by her grief and it was not yet day. So with us, we fail to see why certain things be, why is such a calamity or misfortune cast upon us.

"But when the day dawns we will see more clearly. This is human experience. Many of us can now look back on what seemed a disaster, a great disappointment, a sore affliction and realize that it was for the best.

"We may not in this life be able to understand all things. Holy Writ says that all things work together for good to them that love God. So if the Bible be true the day will dawn when we will understand.

"Paul said, 'I have learned in whatsoever state I am therewith to be content,' but Paul did not mean that he was content to do nothing, for we find that he preached the gospel while in prison to all whom opportunity afforded and wrote letters to the churches. Likewise we, though shut in or bound by affliction's chain, may be able to do something for the uplifting of mankind.

"Some of the most successful have met with repeated failures before attaining final success. Some have risen from obscurity to fame though afflicted from childhood. John Greenleaf Whittier was a great sufferer from boyhood and met with many severe trials through life, yet he lived nearly 85 years to bless mankind with his pen and his name will live as long as the love for good literature lasts. Sophie Wright of New Orleans, though a hopeless cripple and in comparative poverty, accomplished more in educating the poor of that city than all other forces combined and her influence will be felt and men will praise her name as long as the city stands.

"Many other examples could be given; we have but to look around us and see what others are accomplishing over seemingly insurmountable obstacles, therefore, if you are cast down look up. Let the sunshine in. There is something for each of us to do, though it may not be great, if not, greatness is not required, yet our little is required. The best way to be happy is to be busy.

"If you cannot do what you desire, do what you can.

"If you cannot perform physical labor store your mind with useful knowledge and radiate the light within you."

Last Friday afternoon the Intermediate Parent-Teacher Association gave an informal entertainment to the teachers of the Intermediate schools at the school house in Glendale. Mrs. Dr. Jessie Russell presided. Addresses were given by Mrs. Chas. H. Toll, Prof. A. C. Brown and Prof. R. D. White of the local schools, and by A. B. The local lodge of Elks has selected Peter L. Ferry, past exalted ruler, and John W. Lawson, exalted ruler, to represent the lodge at San Francisco Oct. 27. This convention is for the purpose of determining the feasibility of forming a state association. The delegates from 1289 have been instructed to vote for such an association.

The Presbyterian Brotherhood will hold another one of its popular meetings at the Presbyterian Church Friday, October 17. The Ladies' Aid Society will furnish the edibles and the Rev. Mr. Edmonds will deliver the address.

The building permits for Glendale for the last nine months have totaled $500,366.

Mr. Robert Taylor of West Palmer avenue has returned from San Francisco, where he attended a meeting of the Good Templars.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Specht of Bishop, Cal., are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Nicholson of Acacia avenue.

Forty-one building permits were issued by Glendale during the month of September at a total valuation of $51,465. Pretty good for a dull month.

Have you seen the smile on Peter L. Ferry's face—a regular Irish grin? Well, you can't blame Peter, the stork left a beautiful baby girl at his house Sunday morning.

Mrs. W. B. Pratt of Glendale avenue, who was a delegate from the M. E. Church, attended the missionary meeting at the First M. E. Church three days of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Dutton of E. Laurel avenue entertained at six o'clock dinner on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stine, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Burlingham and Mrs. Sophia Burlingham.

Mrs. Harry Turner of West Acacia avenue has returned from Ventura, where she was the guest of her mother. She was accompanied home by Elizabeth, Beatrice and Frederick, her three children.

The railroads estimate that over 60,000 colonists have visited Southern California in the last 30 days. The railroad people express a belief that the spring season will exceed this number.

Dr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Pollock and son, Allen, were the Sunday guests of Dr. Curry of Los Angeles, who entertained Dr. Pollock and family with a sailing trip in his steam launch, visiting San Pedro and other ports.

Visor Lodge, K. of P., is to give a Progressive Whist Party Monday evening, October 20. All Knights, their wives, sweethearts and friends, are invited. A social dance will be given in Castle Hall Thursday evening, October 23.

Maj. J. J. Weiler writes that chestnuts and chinquapins are plentiful this fall in East Tennessee, where he has been visiting his son. He is now in Northern Indiana, where most of the "boys" of the Major's regiment are living. He has gained eight pounds in weight and is still gaining.

ExSheriff John Burr's will was probated last week and leaves all his property equally between his wife and three sons, but if his wife marries or refuses to live with one of the sons she forfeits her share. Another case where there might be good, fat picking for lawyers!

Mrs. R. E. Tiffany of Pasadena was visiting in Tropico last week. While here Mrs. Tiffany attended the meeting of the Pythian Sisters. Miss Annie Miller Peck and Miss Jessie Dutton returned to Pasadena with Mrs. Tiffany and spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Tiffany.

The Bar Z Outfit is going to give their opening dance in Butler's Hall the 1st of November, 1913. Butler's Hall is a new hall on the west side of Brand Boulevard and is the largest in the valley, having a dancing capacity of one hundred and ten couples. It also has dressing rooms and men's smoking room. Ime's Orchestra will furnish the music.

While shopping on Broadway last Saturday, Mrs. W. R. Hoopdell of Christopher street met with an unfortunate accident. She tripped and fell to the pavement, spraining her right wrist and bruising her arm severely. It will be several days before she is able to use her arm.

The P. E. wants to run a belt line after the proposed extension is completed. The proposition is to branch off the main line at San Fernando Road and run north to Broadway, then west on Broadway until the main line is again reached.

Mrs. T. J. Neagher of Tenth street entertained with a luncheon Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Kenton Robertshaw of Glendale.

Mayor Rose of Los Angeles is to deliver a talk in San Fernando today in favor of annexation of that community to the big city. The grafters of Los Angeles have got that good city in a hole, and now it's anything to get someone to help pull them out.

The many friends of Mr. Ira T. Aney, the popular conductor on the Glendale line, are striving hard to make him a winner in the "Evening Express" contest. Everybody knows "Doc," and, judging from the way the coupons are being handed to him, everybody likes him. Let us all remember to cut out the coupons and give them to Mr. Aney. His last trip each day is on the car that leaves Los Angeles at four o'clock.

All the railroads reaching the coast and the Southwest are making preparations to handle the increased business which they all expect to come after the Panama Canal is open for business. The railroad managers have reached the conclusion that the increase in the volume of business will much more than offset what may be diverted by way of the canal, and they are trying to get in shape to handle this increase. The Salt Lake, the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific are especially making efforts to increase their equipment. It is reported that the Salt Lake has ordered over a million dollars' worth of engines and cars and that the Southern Pacific has started plans to raise ten millions, all of which is to go into equipment.

G. U. H. S. NOTES.

The Juniors and Freshmen fought for honors on the basketball court Monday, the sixth. The Freshmen gave the upper classmen a good game, although they were young and inexperienced. The final score was 24 to 13. Mr. Frank Littell refereed the game. Littell was the star forward of last year's team.

The Juniors went for the second game of their series with the Sophomores. The game during the first half was very close, the score being at one time 11 to 11. At the end of the game, however, the score was 24 to 13, in favor of the Juniors.

The Seniors walked away with the next game, which was with the Freshmen. The game was fast, but too easy for the Seniors to be much of a game. The final score was 14 to 3.

The last game of the series was the hard-fought battle between the Juniors and Seniors for the championship. At the start the Juniors got a lead on the Seniors which in the end caused the game to go to the Juniors. In the last half the Seniors rallied, but the lead was too much to overcome. The final score was Juniors 22, Seniors 11.

The girls of the three upper classes gave a reception to the Freshmen girls last Friday on the High School lawn. The affair was done in fine style; punch and wafers were served and games were played. The reception was an annual occurrence, being in the nature of a welcome to the Freshmen co-eds.

The opening of the Panama Canal was celebrated in the High School by one prolonged shout which swelled in volume until the very building vibrated. At 11 o'clock the fire gong rang and the noise that issued from the school undoubtedly surpassed that of any previous occasion. The class in the wood-working department issued forth in a serpentine with one industrious lad at their head, beating times on a rubbish can.

MINISTERS' WEEK.

The College of Agriculture of hold a "Ministers' Week" at the University Farm School at Davis from December 2 to 5, inclusive. Clergymen from all over California have been invited to attend this special four-day conference on problems of country life.

NEW CHIROPRACTOR IN GLENDALE.

Roy A. Sipes, D. C., formerly of 209-210 Merchants Trust Bldg., Los Angeles, has opened offices in Suite 4 of the First National Bank Bldg., Glendale. Mr. Sipes is a young man of energy, and one who stands high in his profession.

Being a graduate of one of the best Chiropractic Schools in the country, and having taken a course of the founder, Dr. D. D. Palmer, well qualifies Mr. Sipes for his work. He is also a charter member of the Federated Chiropractors of California, which requires proper educational and professional ability as its standard.

Chiropractic, though new to a great many in California, has passed through its experimental stage, having been founded by Dr. D. D. Palmer of Davenport, Iowa, in 1895.

To a Sentinel representative Mr. Sipes outlined the nature of the real cause of disease, the remedy and how results are obtained, as studied by Chiropractors. In this issue will be found an advertisement of this science and a special offer to those who would avail themselves of something worth while.

Owing to the absence of Mayor Bancroft and Trustee Webster, there was but little doing at the meeting of the Board of Trustees Thursday night. Lacking a quorum for the transaction of business, only routine matters could be attended to. Proposals asking for bids for street work on Blanche and Christopher were ordered published.

The amendment to Ordinance No. 6, providing for the payment of a license on all canvassers and solicitors of photographs, or enlarged pictures was read for the third time, passed and ordered printed.

"Block systems are good, and so are all other mechanical devices, but unless you get the man at the throttle valve to leave whiskey alone, deaths will occur on the track. By the introduction of a "more excellent way" a report upon the Southern Pacific system shows that in four years ended July 30, 1912, 150,000,000 persons had traveled on trains of that road "without killing a single passenger through collision or derailment." In one small railroad town of 3000 inhabitants, twenty-nine saloons had flourished, and kept on flourishing in spite of the rule forbidding trainmen to patronize these places. Then the road introduced its "more excellent way" in the establishment of a clubhouse to take the place of the saloon, and six months later a dozen of the saloons had closed their doors because they would not pay. Two years after the club was opened, only seven of the twenty-nine saloons remained in business. Guidance was superior to obstruction, and education left prohibition away behind.

As an indication of the effect the Mexican war is having on business, it may be mentioned that the consular reports from Ciudad Juarez for August show that for 1912 there was a decrease in the goods imported through Juarez of $2,320,321.

The Department of Agriculture, in connection with the Department of the Interior, is endeavoring to encourage the installation of power plants at water power sites in National Forests, so that the elctric energy may be used by private concerns, especially for pumping purposes. A recent contract entered into in Idaho along this line contains a provision that the maximum charge by the company to the private consumer shall not exceed 6 cents per kilomat hour.

Cranberry Water Ice.

To 1 pound of fresh cranberries or equal quantity in canned or preserved add sugar to taste, boil for 15 minutes and strain. Cool and add the juice of 4 oranges, 2 lemons. Freeze slowly. This is based on the gallon. Mangoes and quince will also make very cooling water ices, and can be prepared in the same manner. The fresh mangoes must be peeled and boiled till quite soft.

ORCHARD HEATERS BY THE MILLIONS.

Southern Californians are not going to lose their fruit crop again from cold if orchard heaters will save it. It is said orders for more than a million heaters have been placed by fruit men.

C. A. Teague, who owns the largest lemon orchard in the world at Santa Paula, has ordered 58,100 heaters. A. G. Spalding, the "father of American baseball," has ordered 10,500 heaters for his Sespe ranch at Santa Paula. The Foothills Citrus Association, in which James Slauson is a leading spirit, has ordered 18,000 hearters. James M. Flagler of Corona has placed an order for 7000 heaters. The A. F. Call estate of Corona has in an order for 5000 heaters.

The heaters vary in cost from 45 cents to $1.10 and contain from three to seven gallons. They burn from seven to twenty-four hours, according to size and draft.

The first car of grapes shipped this season from the Imperial Valley brought $3,000 on the Chicago market. S. P. officials estimate there will be 120 cars of grapes shipped this season from Imperial Valley points.

From wisdom's crumbs may you
Submit to order, cling to truth

Let all your aims be high and pure—
'T'will give you courage to endure.
Yes, keep your conscience clear and bright
As the twinkling stars of night.

Stoop to nothing base or low,
That the good may sprout and grow,
Blooming freshly day by day,
Scattering fragrance on your way.

That when your present task is done
A broader life will be begun.
Upward and onward be your flight;
Ever laboring for the right.
